5. Liability Waivers – Primacio noted the tour would probably start on Drum Road and go to F Gate, as has been the case in the past. NEW BUSINESS

Proposed Cell Tower in Hau'ula – Kathy O'Connor-Phelps, of the Yukon Group reported the following: Cellphone Tower – O'Connor-Phelps reported being in talks with the owners of the property at 54-77 Maaku Road about placing a 63 foot Verizon Wireless Cellphone Tower on their property. Another option would be to place the tower on the State of Hawaii property lot at Hau'ula Homestead Road. There is a proposition to place a Ko'olauloa

Community Center at this location as well. O'Connor-Phelps passed out site plans of the original location and was open for questions.

Questions, comments, and concerns that followed:

1. Tower – Moore inquired and O'Connor-Phelps answered that this proposed tower is for Verizon Wireless, however, if other cellphone companies wanted to place antennas they would be able to.
2. Tree Disguise – Fonoimoana asked and O'Connor-Phelps stated that the tower would be a broad leaf tree design to blend in with the surrounding area, noting that there are complaints received on the visual impacts of cellphone tower trees.
3. Health Impact – Tafua asked if the risks of bringing in a cellphone tower into the community has been looked at. O'Connor-Phelps answered that they are mandated by the federal communication commission (FCC), which requires mandated testing. All levels are way below what is recommended by the FCC.
4. Giving Back – Elkington stated that it would be nice for companies that want to use the area to provide to community with promotions. O'Connor-Phelps took note of the idea.
5. Electromagnetic Energy (EME) – Fonoimoana asked for clarification and O'Connor-Phelps answered that EME exposure from the antennas could cause headaches, this is possible if someone would be standing directly in front of the antenna if working on a roof top and when on a tall cell phone tower a resident would not see the same effects as it is farther away.
6. Other Companies – Carroll inquired and O'Connor-Phelps answered that Verizon will build and own the tower, and if another cellphone company wanted to come in and rent space on the tower it could be a possibility.
7. Opposition – Iseke staked his opposition of the cell phone tower. Adding that the Hau'ula community needs to be informed and involved more during the process. O'Connor-Phelps noted that these plans are all preliminary, the community will receive updates, and that the cell phone tower is not up for a vote.
8. Fencing – A resident noted receiving correspondence regarding the proposed cell phone tower, additionally asking if Verizon would build a fence around their equipment. O'Connor-Phelps noted that there would be fencing around the equipment as well as around the cell phone tower.

Board Member Au arrived to the meeting at 7:10 p.m.; Nine (9) board members present.

9. Information – Iseke and Iese both requested to receive information on the proposed cell phone tower as they either live directly adjacent or near the proposed sites. O'Connor-Phelps noted printing a Geographic Information Systems (GIS) map and sending certified letters to property owners on parcels directly associated with property.
10. Proposed Plans – Wolfersberger inquired and Kelly-Paddock answered that the cell phone tower would be in the back of the property of the state lot and it would be a way to get a much needed community center in the area, because there would be funding coming in from leasing part of the land.
11. Shopping Center – Auna inquired and O'Connor-Phelps answered that the Hau'ula Shopping Center has one (1) cell phone tower owned by Sprint, however they are not renting space on the tower.
12. Zone Change – Iese asked and O'Connor-Phelps answered that there would be no zone change to the lot if the cell phone tower were to be placed at the state lot.

Ko'olauloa Proposed Kupuna Day Care Center – Roseanne Sakamoto reported the following: Kupuna Day Care – Sakamoto referenced the need for an adult day care in the Ko'olauloa area, requesting for people to fill out a sheet if they feel there is a need and if they have relatives who would use the day care system. Providing services to the elderly would offer many benefits to the elderly and the at home care taker. The elderly would get social interaction, meals, safety, etcetera. The at home care giver would get peace of mind knowing their loved one is being watched after, so they are able to go about their needs as well. A proposed day care center site would be at Oceanside Assisted Living. Sakamoto introduced Kent Akea a caregiver to his wife, who provides care giving classes at Windward Senior Day Care Center and Albert Chen the owner of Oceanside Assisted Living.

Questions, comments, and concerns that followed:

1. Costs – Auna inquired and Akea answered that the potential cost for kupuna to attend day care per a day would range from $65-$75 a day.
2. Feedback – Tafua asked and Akea stated that there will be a two (2) hour informational seminar on Saturday, November 19, 2016 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. at Oceanside Assisted Living for caregivers to learn more about different options provided. Nine (9) service providers will be in attendance.
3. Level Of Care – Tafua inquired and Akea answered that the kupuna program would provide day care services, it would not provide skilled nursing for people on hospice.

4. Income – Moore noted that the potential cost to send elderly to this day care is too much for people to afford in the area, and there would need to be subsidies such as scholarships offered.
5. Hours of Operation – A resident inquired and Akea answered that the hours of operation would be from 6:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. open up to six (6) days a week.
6. Support – Kelly-Paddock voiced her opinion that services like this are greatly needed in the area and to be open to such a program. Kelly-Paddock added that Oceanside Assisted Living donated a 20 passenger bus to transport seniors in Hau'ula to various programs as well as providing all of the meals when HCA holds Kupuna breakfasts.
7. Financial Assistance – Iese noted being a caregiver like so many others and supports the idea of such a program in the area but had questions about what kind of financial assistance could be provided besides the elderly's retirement towards costs. Akea noted that it costs money to survive and have such a program in existence, however more questions on how to cover these costs may be answered at the informational seminar on Saturday, November 19, 2016.
8. Funding – A resident noted that money can be found to provide financial assistance, and in perpetuity. The Ko'olauloa area is designated title three (3) rural area. If people demonstrate a financial need to receive such services they should be able to get assistance. She inquired about the exact level of care provided, and Akea answered that the program would not be able to support people that may be on an oxygen tank, but could provide palliative type care.
9. Kupuna to Keiki – Connors noted that years ago there was a proposal for a Kupuna to Keiki program in Ko'olauloa, however it does not seem to be in the forefront anymore. Akea added that Oceanside Assisted Living has the infrastructure already in place in order to be able to start providing much needed kupuna day care services.
10. Thanks – Moore thanked Sakamoto, Akea, and Chen for attending the meeting and presenting on the important subject matter, adding that Carroll is the new Health Chair on the neighborhood board and they will keep in contact for any updates on the progress of the kupuna day care program.

Job seekers can also take advantage of online services from the statewide job bank, Hire Net Hawaii.
- Flooding – The DPP is unaware of any issues regarding Navy dumping near Radford High School and the report by Carol Cox. Pokiwi Place has a historical flooding problem due to natural causes. Flooding of low-lying areas has typically occurred when the mouth of the stream under the state-owned Kamehameha Highway Bridge is plugged with sand due to high surf, and rains inundate the area. Radford High School and Pokiwi Place are geographically incongruent. The allegations and relationship of dumping to flooding are unclear.

Board member Prescott departed the meeting at 8:02 p.m.; Eight (8) board members present.

5. Concerns – Connors voiced concerns on if the DPP had enough funding to provide people to inspect TVUs, the state of bus stops noting less people ride TheBus because of quality, and inquired where the $1.5 million came for the van pool program. Sakata answered that the van pool funding was a part of federal funding received.

length, with hub then over 400 feet in diameter. Moore suggested legislation to prevent certain heights of turbines and distances away from school.

4. Signs and Ferry – Iseke asked and Senator Riviere answered that the DOT is still working on placing warning signs in the area to inform people when there are potential hazards such as flooding. Senator Riviere added that there are no plans, however some people are interested in reviving the Ferry.

Van Pool – Connors asked if Senator Riviere could look into the Van Pool program, then asking if the Hawaii Tourism Authority (HTA) could do a study of the tourist who use the buses to go out to the North Shore in order to provide more accurate bus services during the times of day that the bus is being used by the many tourists who visit this side of the island.
